

Data Connection Accounts

Introduction

Data Connection Accounts are used to validate each connection in relation to an account in the database. In this way, a hosted solution can manage the individual connections per. Customer.